Rivers to Ridges is a network of outdoor recreation sites in northwest Illinois. The network covers sites in three counties bordering the upper Mississippi River: Jo Daviess, Carroll and Whiteside. Nineteen sites are ready for visitors now; dozens of additional ones will be added as properties are improved and amenities added.

These sites offer glimpses into the incredible natural beauty of this corner of Illinois. They beckon visitors and residents to tread lightly on the region's unique geology: towering bluffs, rugged hills and valleys, ever-changing rivers and flood plains. While dedicated to conserving and preserving wildlife and natural habitats, Rivers to Ridges sites also invite you to respectfully experience and enjoy them up close.
